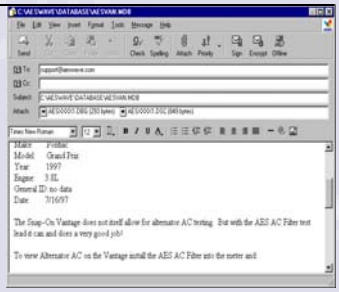
How exactly does the Race Relations Project work?

Instructors inform their students that they will participate in a RRP program as an out-of-class assignment via class announcement and syllabus insert. The instructor forwards his/her class list with email to: racerelationsproject@psu.edu

Students receive an email directly from the Race Relations Project with instructions on how to sign up for a program and reminding them of the start and end dates for their class to participate in a program..



Students visit www.racerelationsproject.psu.edu/ to register from multiple programs that have been posted for their class

Students attend the RRP session that they scheduled typically evenings, 6:30 -8pm*

Facilitators of each RRP program take and collect attendance which is then noted, counted and returned to the appropriate instructor by either email or campus mail.

© 2005 Race Relations Project